JEFF KOROTKY JOINS HUNTER HOMES AS CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

Huntsville, Alabama - 2005 - Hunter Homes is pleased to announce that it has hired Jeff Korotky as Chief Financial Officer. In that capacity, Korotky will lead the financial group at Hunter Homes with responsibility for planning and execution of financial and accounting initiatives. With over 10 years experience in auditing, financial oversight and reporting as well as investment analysis, Korotky brings a wealth of experience to Hunter Homes.

"Jeff will further improve upon Hunter Homes' financial performance and help us build a financial infrastructure which is flexible and meets our needs in a growing and changing business environment," said Hunter Homes President Shawn Fairburn.

"We are pleased to have Jeff join the team," added CEO Mark Hunter. "He will be an integral part of our growing business and his experience, talent, and integrity will only further enhance our value proposition that is the core of our homebuilding."

Prior to joining Hunter Homes, Korotky served as Chief Financial Officer for Dallas-Fort Worth based Clarity Homes, one of the area's most respected builders. He also served on the Bridge Building Committee for Tarrant Net Ministries and was the lead Financial Advisor.

"I couldn't be more pleased to be part of the team at Hunter Homes," Korotky said. "The company is known and respected for its commitment to quality and innovation and I look forward to being a part of the continued growth and development."

Korotky, a CPA and member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA), holds a bachelor's degree in accounting from Auburn University. Korotky and wife Kathryn have a three-year old daughter, Ellie, and are expecting twin boys this summer.
